

Presidents Report

As I write week beginning 2nd May I think of our event happening on that day, the Annual Mayoral Golf Day at Royal Melbourne. What a lot of effort and dedication this takes to put on - I would like to thank the team lead by Jim O'Brien. More thanks and acknowledgements next week, however just because the team make it look easy we shouldn't underestimate the work and skill required. I am ball spotting on the day; I understand from Ken and Wolf that I should wear a bike helmet with spikes to keep the golf balls at bay.

Our wonderful speaker Tim Wilson was absolutely enthralling last week, it's great to have a great speaker with a strong view and the ability to make that view clear. If (and it seems it's really more a case of when) he is elected he will be a worthy successor to those previously holding Goldstein: Ian McPhee, David Kemp and Andrew Robb. and of course a worthy representative for the electorate of Vida Goldstein an early feminist parliamentary candidate.

Greg has sourced another great speaker through his contacts, it's a testament to his wide ranging approach that we have had so many members at our meetings and so many partners - thanks Greg.

The support we get from our regular meetings is always apparent, none more so than when we have significant events in our lives. I received a note of thanks from one of our members saying that our orchid remembrance of his father would make him think of his father and of us, his fellow Rotarians every time he looked at it. That is what our mutual support and fellowship is all about.

Next week is busy, the Golf Day and after dinner at Ru-meah Aleka in Balcombe Road, the Board meeting on Tuesday, the Bayside Council youth speaker on Thursday and the President's meeting on Friday at Mulgrave. Malcolm Sawle is invited to this meeting, as next year's President, he is just about to be launched into one of the busiest years of his life. Malcolm is really preparing; he has his Forum coming up on the 12th of May, I am looking forward to it. Malcolm is already bringing his great strengths in strategy and planning to the Club and our ongoing operation. How lucky we are, in the great strengths we have in all our members, partners and friends of our Club.

Heather Chisolm, the inaugural winner of the Leslie Falloon Perpetual Trophy, with the lady it was named after for having the best Ladies score at the annual Bayside Mayoral Charity Golf event.

Yours in Rotary

Trish

Speaker :Tim Wilson, Liberal Party Candidate for the Federal seat of Goldstein

Topic: Getting to know you

Tim Wilson is one of Australia’s most challenging and thought-provoking opinion leaders. Drawing on strong philosophical principles, he leads debates backed up with evidence while maintaining a real-world pragmatism. Passionate. Fearless. He’s not afraid to stand up and offer an optimistic solutions-focused perspective on local and international issues that gets people engaging and talking.

In early 2014 Tim was appointed Australia’s Human Rights Commissioner. During his term he worked with government to reform laws to stop terrorism while preserving civil liberties, improving economic opportunities for indigenous Australians and defending marginalised communities from public harassment while protecting free speech and religious freedom.

In early 2016 Tim resigned as Commissioner to seek Liberal Party preselection for the electorate of Goldstein covering Bayside Melbourne. In March he was endorsed for the 2016 Federal election.

Tim previously ran his own boutique consulting business exporting services across the world, worked in trade and environment policy for a free market think tank, international development across South-East Asia, politics and the media, and on the boards of some of Australia’s largest public institutions.

His first three jobs were delivering newspapers, carrying timber around building sites and as a waiter at a reception centre.

Tim was twice-elected Student President at University, was recognised by The Australian newspaper as one of the ten emerging leaders of Australian society, and a recipient of an Australian Leadership Award.

Tim has a Masters of Diplomacy and Trade and a Bachelor of Arts from Monash University, and has completed executive education at the Graduate Institute of International Affairs and Development in Geneva and the World Intellectual Property Organisation’s Worldwide Academy.

Tim’s talk concentrated on broad philosophical views he will carry in to parliament if he is elected into the Federal parliament.

He went to school at Mt Martha Primary and the Peninsula School. His father was bankrupted in the 1990 “recession we had to have” and this was a force in shaping his political view of the world.

Tim regards himself as a Classical liberal in the Menzies mold. He believes that the individuals must be free to take care of themselves foremost and then have compassion for others.

He is a strong defender of freedom of speech and believes that Australia’s racial vilification laws restrict genuine debate. He believes genuine examples of racial harassment should be subject to other laws.

Tim is living in a long term same sex relationship and is an advocate of marriage equality.

He has worked with Pat Dobson and is a firm believer in a form of indigenous land rights which would provide the right incentives to build strong communities.

In government he said he would stand for honesty not spin based on a belief that people are not stupid and want to be responsible for their own future.

Tim’s talk showed him as a highly intelligent, educated and articulate candidate for Goldstein.

Namibia, on Africa's southwest coast, is a large country with a harsh landscape. The towering and constantly shifting dunes of the Namib Desert, shown here in this aerial photo run right to the Atlantic Ocean and can reach up to a thousand feet high.
